

NOVEMBER 2014 NEWSLETTER

VOTE

If you don't read any further, you will have read the most important message in this month's newsletter. This mid-term election gives conservative voters the chance to win the majority in the Senate, break the gridlock that has gripped the federal government for the last six years, and finally, hopefully, have a reasonable voice heard in Washington D.C.

Now, on with your gun club business. If you have been to the range lately, you have noticed the new fence and gate at our property line on the road. As of yet, we have not locked this new gate. As soon as the final issues with all concerned landowners have been resolved, the new gate will be locked. This will guarantee the security of your range and reduce the possibility of usage by non-members; at the same time reducing the risk and liability factor for the club.

As you have been made aware of, we have added a .22 rifle match to the organized activities of the club. Our next match is scheduled for November 30, the last Sunday of the month, currently at 2 PM. We may need to bump start time back a little to 1 or 1:30 due to the time change. If so, I will advise. This is a 200 yard match and a lot of fun. If you are interested, let me know and I can send you a copy of the rules. The bowling pin match is on hiatus until April of 2015. As soon as the new schedule is drawn up, it will be posted to the website.

There are some things I will never understand. Our current administration has decided to send untrained (for a medical mission) troops to Africa to assist in dealing with the ebola crisis. Although these troops are to not have any direct exposure, they will have a required, enforced 21-day quarantine before they can return to stateside duty. The doctors and nurses that voluntarily get knee deep in the filth and mire of fighting the deadly disease have no federally enforced quarantine program. They don't even have written guidelines! Make of this what you will, I can only interpret it one way.

Obama is so afraid that he will deter some of the medical professionals from volunteering in Africa if he mandates a required 21-day quarantine, that he would rather put his own country at risk of a full blown epidemic than risk any damage to his image in Africa. He has always resented the fact that Bush 1 and 2 have enormous popularity on the continent of his father. The crowds to greet the former presidents have always been much greater than those for Obama. I, personally, would prefer a little damage to his over-inflated ego than risk taking a chance with a deadly virus.

Once again, get up, get out, and vote! There are a myriad of reasons I can think of compelling me to vote; not a one for me to stay home. As always, the opinions expressed in the newsletter are mine, and mine alone.

SEE YOU AT THE RANGE!
